

Greenpark Names New Investment Director

Posted: EVCJ, 1st November 2008

Greenpark Capital, the London-based secondaries specialist, has hired Robert Savage as an Investment Director. Savage spent 13 years at Doughty Hanson, where he was involved in several key transactions at a senior level. He was a direct investor in transactions totalling around €500m of invested capital, which realised in excess of 3x equity. Most recently he spent two years acting as a consultant to the private equity industry and advising on a range of direct investments. In addition, he helped a leading hedge fund establish its Global Principal Investment division, targeting $5bn funds under management.